LOCAL MATTERS.

O'Leary and Campbell at the rink this evening.

There was more tobacco in town today than there has been for some time past.

At the rink this evening—O'Leary the pedestrian, and Campbell, on rollers.

Full band.

Rumor—that one of our popular school ma'ams is about to slip her neck into the matrimonial noose.

—Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, assemble in regular semi-monthly convocations this evening at Masonic hall.

—The United States signal service department predicts northwesterly winds and light snow for the upper lake region to-morrow.

—There was considerable excitement on the corn exchange square this morning over the tip over of a buggy owned by one of the city liverymen.

—The many friends of Mr. A. J. Tripp, of the fifth ward, will be sorry to hear that his condition, instead of improving, has been growing worse, and his recovery is very doubtful.

—The Rockford delegation returned home by special train last night after the Oratorio, leaving at midnight. They were a pleasant and jolly company of ladies and gentlemen.

—A few young ladies and gentlemen of the Rockford delegation attending the oratorio last evening, remained during the night, guests of Bower City friends, returning to the Forest City this afternoon.

—The Bower City band will be at the rink this evening—the attraction being O'Leary, the pedestrian, against Campbell on rollers—the former walking 1 1/2 miles while Campbell skates 2 miles. An exciting time is expected.

—The warm weather of the past three days has had its effect upon the three or four inches of snow which fell on Sunday last. Bare ground is again visible on every hand, and sleighs have almost wholly disappeared from our streets, wheels being substituted.

—Not many days ago Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Sharpe, of Ottawa, Kansas, lost their youngest child. Not long after their eldest child, a boy of twelve—died after a protracted illness. Mrs. Sharpe will be remembered by many of our readers as Miss Roselle H. Moon—formerly a teacher in our public schools and long a resident of this city. All of her old friends, and all who knew her were her friends—will feel a genuine sorrow with the parents in their affliction.

—The Portage Daily Register is coming along with commendable regularity. This is the paper owned and edited by our old friend, contemporary and competitor, Major Rockwood. The major is making a nice looking six column daily, filled with the proper proportion of local, republican, spiritual and tobacco matter, and if good looks mixed with equal ability will make a paper pay, the major is on the grand highway to popularity and success. Long may he wave but never waver.

—The case of the state against Carroll came up in the municipal court to-day, but was adjourned until to-morrow morning to make room for another matter. This was the case of the state against Seymour Case, of Clinton, charged with malicious trespass. The complainant was Jacob Miller and it was alleged that on the night of February 27th Case broke in two windows of Miller's house District Attorney Malone and William Smith appear for the state while J. W. Sale appears for the defendant.

—This morning all that was mortal of the late Daniel Dowling was laid away in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral which was held at the house being largely attended. The deceased was an officer of the O'Connell branch of the Parson's League, and that society, headed by Richard Brown, John Crowley, R. J. Rooney, Edward Keating and Hugh M. —The 10th annual meeting of the grand lodge of the Knights of Honor of Wisconsin, commenced at Fond du Lac yesterday, Grand Dictator Ross presiding. The attendance is larger than last year, forty-six delegates being in attendance. The dictator reported ten new lodges organized in the state during the past year, and that there will be further addition of two next week. The net increase in membership during the year has been 236, and the order is regarded in better condition than ever before. Besides routine business, the lodge unanimously passed a resolution memorializing the supreme lodge to change the laws so as to make an equitable graded assessment.

—The opening article in the Southern Bivouac for March is by R. T. Darrett, of Louisville. It is the first of a series of three, and in the Kentucky Resolutions of 1795 and 1799 Colonel Darrett gives a short sketch of the political situation in 1795, in order to make clear the significance of these famous declarations, and follows this statement with a copy of the original paper as drafted by Mr. Jefferson, and to show the changes made in this draft by Mr. Breckinridge, a fac simile of the official copy adopted and published by order of the Kentucky legislature. Accompanying these documents is the fac simile, slightly reduced, of a letter written by Thomas Jefferson to Mr. Breckinridge in 1821.

—The weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 10 degrees above zero. Clear, with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 43 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with east wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 31 and 41 degrees above zero.

SACRED SONG.

A Beautiful Rendition of the Oratorio of "The Messiah."

By a Chorus of Two Hundred and Fifty Voices of the Janesville and Rockford Choral Unions, Assisted by the Celebrated Bach's Milwaukee Orchestra, of Eighteen Instruments.

The Grandest Musical Event in the History of Janesville.

A Remarkably Large and Appreciative Audience listened to the Sacred Melody.

A perfect day, followed by a perfect evening, brought joy to the managers of the Choral Union concert, and the crowds that arrived on every incoming train yesterday, indicated that the risk would be taxed to its utmost capacity. At three o'clock in the afternoon the singers were in position for a final rehearsal, which was very satisfactorily rendered before an audience of some six or eight hundred, a large majority of the audience being children from the public schools. A terraced platform at the east end of the building accommodated the two hundred and fifty singers composing the chorus, the ladies occupying the center, and facing the audience, with the basses to the right and facing the tenors on the left. In the foreground was Bach's Milwaukee orchestra of eighteen pieces, arranged in a semi-circle, accompanied by a concert grand piano, at which Mrs. J. W. Bintliff presided.

The afternoon rehearsal revealed the fact that the Riverside rink was better adapted to polo playing than solo singing, the large monotonous room taxing the voice to the utmost and requiring perfect quiet to be appreciated at any distance from the stage.

At seven o'clock in the evening the doors were opened, and for an hour a constant stream of humanity poured in. By eight o'clock at least eighteen hundred people, composing an audience as large and select as has assembled in the Bower City in many a day, were expectantly waiting for the first note in the grand oratorio. A few minutes later Prof. Torrens stepped to his elevated platform and the orchestra responded to the wave of his baton, in a manner which indicated that the famous Milwaukee orchestra merit the enviable reputation which they enjoy.

At the close of the overture Mr. Chas. A. Knorr, of Chicago, stepped to the front of the platform and rendered the opening solo, "Comfort ye my People." Mr. Knorr's tenor is simply the height of excellence, and the noted singer seemed to be at his best last evening. In the full chorus that followed the first selection, the audience was favored with an opportunity to appreciate for the first time the result of Prof. Torrens' work in the Choral Union societies of both Rockford and Janesville.

These united societies possess a liberal amount of rare talent, and the chorus work last evening was highly complimented and reflects credit both upon Prof. Torrens as a leader and upon each individual member in their untiring efforts to excel.

Following the chorus was a bass solo rendered by Mr. Frank D. Emmerson, of Rockford. Mr. Emmerson possesses a rich, deep voice, but his pronunciation is not perfect and perhaps he was not at his best last evening. His part was extremely difficult, taxing the voice to its utmost capacity. There are few bass singers who appear to the best advantage in the roll of the Messiah.

Mrs. C. E. Conrad captivated the audience in a solo which was very nicely rendered; her pronunciation was clear and distinct and her rich, clear voice filled the vast room with sacred melody.

Mrs. J. W. St. John's appearance was the occasion for suppressed applause, and in a series of solos she evinced the fact that she had lost none of her old time popularity. Mrs. St. John never fails to please an audience and her efforts last evening throughout were highly appreciated. Her closing selection, "I Know that my Redeemer Liveth," was rendered in a manner which brought forth rounds of applause. The closing number of part first was rendered as a solo by Miss Edith Dearborn, the comforting words, "Come unto me all ye that labor," seemed peculiarly adapted to her voice which rang out in clear, distinct tones and elicited the rapt attention of the entire audience. Not a word was lost and every note was a musical gem of rare perfection and pathetic melody. It is safe to say that Miss Dearborn was never so thoroughly appreciated by a Janesville audience, as in her effort last evening.

The lady soloists were thoughtfully remembered with choice bouquets.

In part third a quartette composed of Mrs. J. W. St. John, Mrs. C. E. Conrad, Mr. Chas. A. Knorr and Mr. Frank D. Emmerson favored the audience with choice selections to which the full chorus responded. The "Amen" chorus at the close was pronounced by Mr. Bach as the cap sheet of execution. It certainly was very nicely rendered.

The Choral Union is entitled to all the glory and profit resulting from the concert. They have worked very hard and faithfully. The Choral Union of Rockford is also entitled to the thanks of our people for the liberal representation of singers and patrons who contributed to the success of the enter prize.

The guests were royally entertained by our home society. When the expenses are all met there will probably remain about $400 as the net profits of the concert. This money will be profitably spent in promoting the musical interests of Janesville.

The piano solo last evening was one of the noted Decker Bros. concert grand, and was furnished by the popular music dealer Mr. F. H. Collins.

THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Objects, and what the Society Propose to do.

I. To secure co-operation among the different charities of Janesville in practical measures, for the prevention of pauperism, the promotion of thrift, and the more certain relief of the worthy poor.

II. To gain a more perfect knowledge of the poor, with a view to discover their true needs, to teach them how to reach health and independence, and to carry to them friendly social influences.

III. To secure a more efficient distribution of relief among the worthy poor, between voluntary and official charity, to direct the suffering to the institutions adapted to their special forms of need and to place the results of their medication at the disposal of organized or private benevolent persons.

IV. To prevent indiscriminate almsgiving, and to detect imposture, by making work the basis of all relief to the able-bodied.

The sympathy of the association shall be as broad as humanity, to this end:

(a) Nothing shall be done or prohibited by the association that would alienate the interest of any good person in its aims.

(b) No visitor while engaged in its work, shall discriminate against any one on account of creed, politics or nationality.

(c) No officer of the association shall use the influence of his or her position for purposes of proselytizing.

The method by which these objects will be sought are:

(1) The maintenance of a central office in which every case relieved, either by official charity or private associations, shall be registered, and, as far as may be, recorded statistically and historically.

This record, while private and confidential, shall be at the service of all who are interested in the poor, subject only to such regulations as will preserve the self-respect of those who are the proper objects of charity.

(2) The enlistment of corps of district visitors whose districts shall be small enough to enable any one visitor to become personally acquainted with all who reside in the locality. This corps shall be under the direction of an executive council, and shall be so thoroughly united under the central management as to cover the city with a complete net work, in which all fraud shall be caught and all need discovered.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. Wm. Payne, of the first ward, started for Florida to-day.

—General James Bintliff, of the State board of supervision, is in the city this afternoon.

The New Artesian Well at Rockford.

The Rockford Register: "The new artesian well is bubbling quite lively now at a depth of about 730 feet. The drill is laboring in a strata of blue shale that offers great impediment to the progress of the work. It is a rubber-like clay that packs under the pressure of the pump, and less than a foot of the formation being brought to the surface per hour. For a time the flow of water in the well entirely disappeared Saturday and the spectators began to fear that a false alarm had been given. After the water had commenced to drip over the top of the pipe the pump was lowered and the plug drawn out. Then the water sank below the top of the pipe and after refusing to flow. Subsequently the mayor found a reason for the subsidence of the water. The introduction and removal of the pump has stirred up the dirt in the well and filled the water with particles of sand and clay. In the whole length of the 700 feet column of water in the well, this floating sand and slag aggregated a considerable weight. Consequently the pressure that had been just sufficient to raise the column of water to the surface of the ground when free from the sand and mud could not raise it with the added weight of the floating particles of rock.

On the other hand the additional weight was sufficient to cause the water to recede in the pipe some distance. This theory proved to be a correct solution of the puzzling circumstance. In the course of half an hour the solid water had cleared of the sand, and its weight removed the water again commenced to flow. The blue shale in which the drill is now working, will not be penetrated probably until Friday. The flow will then increase materially; it cannot now on account of the impervious nature of the shale. The workmen expect to reach a depth of 1,200 feet in three weeks, and have the well completed by the middle of May. The water from the new well cannot be utilized at all until the work is completed and the stream piped up to the pumping pit at the water works.

Dangerous Counterfeit Coin.

Teller Henderson, of the La Crosse (Wis.) National bank, has discovered a counterfeit silver dollar that is pronounced by all bank people in that city as absolutely the most dangerous ever seen. It is a standard silver dollar of the currency of 1881. The outside is silver, and the die in every substantial particular as clear as the original. It stands all microscopic tests. The only possible means of detection is by weight, it being exactly forty-seven grams short of the standard dollar—Underwood's Bank Reporter.

Nothing but superlative merit can account for the phenomenal reputation achieved by Underwood's 25 cents.

The Davenport theory perplexes the multitude. They object to descendants from monkeys. But not even a baby objects to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The Prohibitionists.

The Prohibition club held their annual meeting last evening at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association, and elected the following officers:

President—William Street.

First Vice President—Geo. J. Kellogg.

Second Vice President—M. DeGrat.

Secretary—Wm. F. Beckett.

Treasurer—H. W. Perrigo.

Literary Committee—J. M. Alden, Rev. G. W. Lawrence, A. S. Griswold.

Finance committee—James Harris, Wm. A. Lawrence, Noah Dutton.

Mrs. L. E. Bailey, of New York, the temperance lecturer, was present and addressed the meeting, advocating prohibition.

FAITH CURES.

Sample Letters Received by Elder Lugg Relating to Faith Cures.

A Brief Explanation by Elder Lugg.

The little communication on "faith cure," furnished by Presiding Elder Lugg and recently published in the Gazette, has gone all over the country, and as a result the Elder is liable to gain national notoriety without much of an effort. He is in receipt of numerous letters from various parts of the country of which the following is a fair sample:

ROCKFORD, ILL., March 1, 1886.

Rev. Mr. Lugg:

Mr. Deak Sir—Kindly, can you give me the particulars of any faith cure that have been under your personal observation? The name and pretenses addresses of the parties, please; their ailments; how long ill; whether they were attended by a regular physician; and were they so attended when their cures were effected? If not, how long before had they been discharged? How long, if at all, had they discontinued taking medicine or drugs before these cures were effected? To what do you attribute faith cures; how do you account for or explain them? Any further particulars you may be pleased to write will be gratefully received. Most sincerely yours,

CHAS. MARSHALL, Journalist.

ROCK ISLAND, ILL., March 2d, 1886.

Received Mr. Lugg, of Janesville Wis.

I saw a notice of a voucher from you stating of the cure of two persons by faith after prayer in their behalf. I am afflicted with my eyes; have doctored some but get no relief. Now, do you think I could get that relief by faith, for I have always believed in our Supreme Being, though I can't say that I have been a christian but I do believe there is something in the healing by faith. I am very anxious about my sight, I cannot see out of one of them now. I will send you the notice that I saw in the paper and I should be much pleased and thankful to hear from you on this subject, and may God guide us both now and forever.

I remain,

Respectfully your Obedient Servant,

L. H. FRANK,

Rock Island, Ill.

The following is the extract alluded to:

"Presiding Elder Lugg, of Janesville, Wis.," writes, "two men after fervent prayers in their behalf. One, who was pronounced incurable, came from his bed and walked to church the following Sunday, and the other, a veteran soldier, who had used crutches since the war, was enabled to dispense with their use."

In regard to the above communications received by me through the mail, I have this to say, that I am not authority for faith cures in any miraculous sense. The cures I reported from Allen's Grove, I simply reported what I saw of the parties and their condition before. Every one must examine the facts for themselves and draw their own conclusions.

SAMUEL LUGG.

[The older is at present limping around with a severe attack of rheumatism. He still possesses faith in God and Athletes—Eds. GAZETTE.]

My wife was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism and suffered intense pain. After taking six doses of Athletes the pain was entirely gone and the swelling nearly all reduced. R. B. Watson, Supt. Am. Dist. Telegraph Co., Detroit, Mich.

Best Route to Milwaukee.

The C. & N. W. day express north leaving Janesville at 1:20 p. m. via Jefferson Junction, arrives at Milwaukee at 4 o'clock p. m., making the run in two hours and forty minutes. This train gives Janesville passengers an opportunity for dinner at home and is a very desirable route to Milwaukee.

Articles of Attilio Brado of Laos.

There is scarcely an article of human attire that has not been made in Laos for the old nobility of France and England. Stockings and garters, underwear, puttees, coats, waistcoats and cravats, shirts, collars, cuffs and ruffles, hosiery, musk and boot-tops, aprons, lapels, veils, handkerchiefs, caps and bouclier-holders. Even the church had its banners of rare lace, and its dignitaries monopolized a large share of the finest products of the needle and bobbin, while the aristocratic Dutch smothered their warning pans and door-knockers in Flemish points—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Medical Treatment Without Alcohol.

The leading medical journals have taken up the popular superstition that alcoholic beverages have cure-all properties and are tearing it to tatters. They say that actual experiment has demonstrated that the best results in the treatment of most of those diseases which have hitherto been generally treated with alcoholic liquors are reached without the use of such stimulants. The London non-temperance hospital is said to have given alcohol in only three cases out of 3,000, and in the last twelve years has saved the lives of 95 per cent. of its in-patients.—Chicago News.
